IT LOOKS UNFAIR

When the news spread around town that the council decided at its last meeting to charge a license fee of $20.00 a day for the Chautauqua, there were a number of disappointed, discouraged and wrathful citizens to be encountered.

When everything is considered we can hardly blame the organizers of the Chautauqua entertainment for feeling sore at this action of the council, coming as it does at the eleventh hour, almost a year after the agreement was signed, and when the citizens of the town and district who signed the agreement have no opportunity to get redress.

If the council had acted on the advice of the Mayor and framed the by-law so as to apply to future engagements of this kind, then any local citizens who might undertake such a venture in future would be in a position to govern themselves accordingly.

While the council is supposed to be a representative body, yet it is doubtful if they are any more representative of the town than are the citizens responsible for bringing the Chautauqua here. We may not all agree with the "heads I win and tails you lose" system of failure adopted by the Chautauqua company but we think all are agreed that these Chautauqua are a social, moral and educative uplift to any community. If, therefore, there are those in our community who are willing to take the chance of having to pay dearly to get such a class of entertainment to our town, it does appear strange that the town council should be the first to put a stumbling block in their way.

These Chautauqua have been travelling through Canada now for the past four or five years and we are informed that in only six places in the whole Canada are they charged any license fee. Of these the largest fee charged is $75.00 for the week, and in most cases the towns and cities concerned refund the amount of the fee to the guarantors committee to help them defray the necessary expenses.

The unfortunate part of the affair is that the council is simply taxing its own people who are enterprising enough to bring good, wholesome entertainment to the town, as the agreement states that the local committee must bear all local expenses.

RE STOCK AT LARGE

Under the provisions of The Municipal District Act Sections 206 to 216a inclusive, authority is given to any Municipal District to pass a by-law with reference to stock running at large. By the amendments made to the Act at the recent session of the Legislature, at the request of the Hon. A. G. MacKay, Minister of Municipal Affairs, any by-law of any Municipal District with reference to stock running at large, must be submitted for approval of the Minister before it can be advertised as provided for by Section 214 of the said Act, and any Municipal Council that is considering the putting into force of a by-law with reference to stock running at large should be careful to see that they have the necessary approval endorsed on a certified copy of their by-law before it is advertised. This amendment was asked for not because it was desired to interfere in any way with the business of the Municipal Districts, but for the purpose of protecting Municipal Districts, as far as possible, from trying to enforce a by-law which would be illegal, and which would get them into trouble.

In the notice sent out by the government drawing attention to this change in the act a model form of by-law is submitted for the guidance of municipal councils in framing such a by-law. The act also requires that such by-law should be published in some paper circulated in the district and that copies of by-law be posted in fifteen conspicuous places within the municipality.

WE WERE RIGHT

In these columns two weeks ago, we gave what, in our opinion, was the cause of the great labor troubles which originated in Winnipeg.

Since that time our views have been corroborated and substantiated from several sources. One of these sources is in the report of secret service men from both Canada and the United States who have been investigating the cause of the trouble. A portion of this report appears in another column of this issue.

Another proof that our contention was right comes from a first hand source and from an eye witness in Winnipeg, who according to his own admission arrived in that city as "a bit of a red ragger" himself, intending to join in with the strikers, thinking they were fighting in the interest of labor.

The letter by this source was written by a returned soldier who had just arrived in Winnipeg as a returned soldier here in Redcliff. As this letter explains itself we reprint the portion referring to the strike, without any further comment. Here is what he says:

"This sure is a . . . of a town at the present moment. On my arrival here, being a bit of a red rag myself, I went up to the labor temple to investigate the cause of the trouble, expecting to join them and do my little bit in the interest of labor. It took me about three minutes to size up the bunch and decide to remain neutral, which I did until yesterday, but things got so bad that when they called for volunteers to look after the milk and bread supply, I immediately volunteered. This is no strike in the interest of labor, but purely and simply a move by the foreigners, conscientious objectors and pro-Germans to safeguard themselves against the returned soldiers."

AN OPPORTUNITY

In discussing the liberal conventions recently held throughout Alberta, the Calgary Albertan (Liberal) says:—

"Judging from the meetings in the different ridings one must conclude that the Liberals of Alberta are not entirely united, and that the Liberals who answer to the call are not yet sufficiently sure of their ground to assert anything like leadership in the big Dominion convention."

This is no doubt true and it is equally true that the Conservative party finds itself in the same position. With both the old line parties badly shattered and with Union Government about as popular as a drunk man at a temperance rally, it looks as though there is a good opening for the birth of a brand new, good live, aggressive political party in Canada.

The development of the labor troubles in western Canada, the budget announcement, followed by the resignation from the government by T. A. Crerar, the convention of the Alberta Liberals and the meeting of the U.F.A., make an interesting week in politics in Canada.

"I want the Canadian people to get a vast vision of the trade opportunities in Europe. It is not trade between one firm and another, but trade between whole nations and a sister nation." This is the message of Mr. Lloyd Harris, head of the Canadian Mission in London, on his return to Canada.

If Canada could supply Great Britain with only the eggs which were formerly obtained in Russia, the prosperity of small farmers would continue for years, according to the Canadian Trade Commission's information in London.

Says Labor Trouble Started in Calgary

Secret service men of both Canada and the United States are investigating the fundamental origin of the Winnipeg strike have completed reports for the authorities. The consensus of all reports for the United States is in Winnipeg now conflicting with General Ryder. The Citizen discusses the whole situation, and from the facts gathered by these experts, for purpose of protection, make this announcement which they publish under the head of "Winnipeg Revolutionary Strike." The statement says:

"The revolution in Winnipeg was the outcome of a Bolshevik movement started in Calgary last March, and directed by the I.W.W. organization in the United States. That convention elected a red vice executive for Canada. One of those is Victor Midgley, of Vancouver, a notorious agitator, whose expulsion from Vancouver was demanded by returned soldiers last August when he and others led a one-day general strike in that city in memorial to a military doctor and defender who was shot while resisting arrest."

"The second is W. A. Prichard, of Vancouver, who participated in the same unproductive escapade. The third is J. Knight, of Edmonton, one of the most notorious of western agitators who has mingled with the returned soldiers and a man of the release from the release of men who were actively working in Canada for the German government during the war."

"The fourth, B. Mayler, a Bolshevik, who to overturn the present system of government. And the fifth is E. J. Johns, one of the worst 'red' agitators in Canada, a Winnipeg man who in 1917, at a public meeting of the Trades and Labor Council, urged a general strike against conscription and national registration."

"The movement was started on its way by a climax by overseas agitators who reached Canada some seven months ago. A convention of radical Socialists, representing themselves as representing the returned soldiers, met in Calgary early in March, 1919. It passed resolutions favoring general strikes to release political prisoners, and also actively working for the German government in this country and for the establishment of a six hour working day. It also passed resolutions favoring the release of Soviet government and proletarian dictatorship and other resolutions endorsing greetings to Spartacists in Germany and the Bolsheviks in Russia."

Stringent Immigration Laws for States

Bills prohibiting immigration for five years and placing more rigid restrictions upon alien entering U. S. were introduced in the senate. One measure by Senator King, Democrat of Utah, would exclude alien anarchists and others who believe in overthrow of governments by force, and others by Senator Sterling, Republican of South Dakota, would amend present citizenship laws so as to denaturalize alien who obtain citizenship through fraud or who passed others to do so.

People of Armenia, Syria and Palestine are most eager to the United States shall have the league of nations mandate for their country. Andrew Wilson H. P. Post of Indianapolis, head of one section of the American Mission for relief in the near east, who arrived in Rome on his way to the United States.

New Laws Will

Effect Bolsheviks

Some sweeping amendments to the criminal code are introduced in the special committee of the house of commons on sedition, propaganda. The committee is also considering the insertion of a series of new sections in the code. Any association purporting to bring about any governmental, industrial or economic change within Canada by use of force are.
